

From: [REDACTED]
Sent: 05 August 2021 12:23
To: [REDACTED]
Subject: RE: Call for Evidence | Commission on Creating Healthy Cities

[...]

Creating healthy cities. This one focused on powers cities have
- <https://gregfellpublichealth.wordpress.com/2018/08/05/creating-healthy-cities/>

stuff on spatial planning

vol 1 <https://gregfellpublichealth.wordpress.com/2017/11/30/planning-and-healthy-cities-volume-2/>

volume 2 <https://gregfellpublichealth.wordpress.com/2017/02/10/planning-processes-healthy-cities/> volume 3 <https://gregfellpublichealth.wordpress.com/2018/09/30/urban-futures-planning-and-health-well-being/> why “health” is an economic issue <https://gregfellpublichealth.wordpress.com/2019/11/08/why-health-matters-to-the-economy-an-economy-with-well-being-at-the-heart-1/> wellbeing and public policy (esp economic policy). 5th of 5 blogs

- <https://gregfellpublichealth.wordpress.com/2019/05/02/building-well-being-into-public-policy/> housing <https://gregfellpublichealth.wordpress.com/2017/09/13/health-in-all-policies-national-level-volume-2-housing/> transport 1 <https://gregfellpublichealth.wordpress.com/2017/08/14/health-in-all-policies-national-level-volume-1/> transport 2 <https://gregfellpublichealth.wordpress.com/2016/11/02/ten-thoughts-on-reframing-transport-policy-as-a-health-investment/> clocked one of the qus was about evidence and public health evidence and “public health”

- <https://gregfellpublichealth.wordpress.com/2021/05/12/why-money-spend-on-public-health-is-a-sound-investment/>

Prof Fergusson's piece was stunning <https://www.lgcplus.com/services/health-and-care/brian-ferguson-treasury-should-end-its-obsession-with-public-health-spending-09-06-2021/>

A whole bunch of tricky stuff on double standards / level playing field / burden of proof threshold / evidential paradigm – this is third in a series of 5 blogs on this <https://gregfellpublichealth.wordpress.com/2019/02/10/evidence-in-public-health-the-double-standards-and-burden-of-proof-problem-evidence-in-public-health-part-3/>

